

Take a look at these advertisements. Do you notice anything unusual? Have you ever seen this woman in any advertisements before?

Services médicaux

Cela pourrait aussi vous intéresser...

To be ambiguous (adj)

– unclear / having more than one meaning

To be overexposed (adj)

– seen too much / losing original interest or impact

A stock photograph (n)

– ready-made picture / sold online for creative uses

A cross section (n)

– a small group / representing a much larger society

To be Eurasian (adj)

– having mixed / European and Asian family roots

To be Caucasian (adj)

– belonging to / the white or European racial group

A. The club includes a wide ____ of local people.

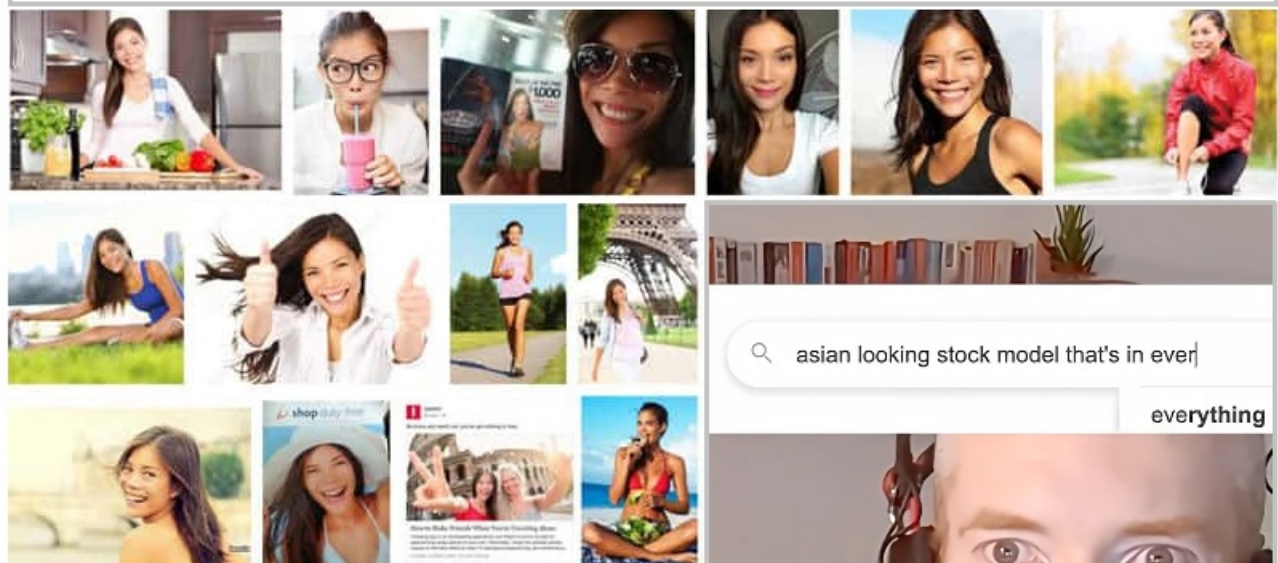

B. His answer was ____, so nobody understood what he meant.

C. Most people in this small northern German town are ____.

D. This company uses a ____ on its main website.

E. The actor became ____, appearing in every single commercial.

F. My classmate is ____ because her mother is from China.

asian looking stock model that's in ever everything

Watch the video and mark the following statements as True or False:

1. The woman became famous after starring in Hollywood action movies.
2. Her face appeared in ads, websites, and magazines worldwide.
3. The video says she worked mainly as a television news reporter.
4. Many companies used the same photos without people noticing it.
5. The woman refused to let photographers use her pictures online.
6. According to the video, she earned billions of dollars from modeling.
7. The narrator explains that stock photos are often reused repeatedly.
8. The video claims she completely disappeared from the internet in 2010.

- Would you like your face to be famous globally if nobody knew your real name? Why or why not?
- Do you think companies should use "ready-made" stock photos, or hire real people?
- If a company wants to advertise a product in your country, what kind of look should the model have?
- Why do you think this woman does not try to become a rich and famous celebrity?

"A stock model should be seen and not heard, honestly."

Rebecca Ariane Givens

1. Why did she initially hide her real name from the public?

a) Personal health problems; b) Contractual privacy agreements;

2. What specific action caused her to reveal her true identity?

a) Launching wellness blog; b) Finishing law school; c) Signing fashion deals.

3. How did she feel about working as a runway model?

a) Extremely relaxed; b) Completely bored; c) Uncomfortably cold.

4. Why do international marketing brands love using her photos?

a) Unique athletic body; b) Famous family background; c) Culturally mixed face.

5. Who regularly helps her film and produce stock photography?

a) Romantic partner; b) Professional agent; c) Corporate client.

6. Where did she recently spot her own giant advertisement?

a) Local organic cafe; b) Times Square; c) Berlin airport.

7. What serious security problem did her online fame cause?

a) Dangerous stalker; b) Lost bank cards; c) Stolen emails.

8. How many people fake-copied her profile name online?

a) Two; b) Five; c) Three.

- Rebecca thinks a good stock model should be a "blank canvas." Do you prefer to blend into a crowd, or do you like to stand out?
- She had to deal with online fakes and a stalker. What are some rules you use to keep yourself safe on social media?
- Rebecca gave up a potential career in law to do modeling and health coaching. Would you ever completely change your career path?
- If you found out someone was using your photo to pretend to be you online, what is the very first thing you would do?

in the future everyone will be famous for 15 minutes

— Andy Warhol

The Philosopher

Always remember that the crowd that applauds your coronation is the same crowd that will applaud your beheading. People like a show.

Terry Pratchett

Fame is really strange. One day you're not famous, and then the next day you are, and the odd thing is that you know intellectually that nothing in the world is different. What mattered to you yesterday are the same things that matter today, and the rules all still apply - yet everyone looks at you differently.

— Matt Damon —

Being famous is such a gift for me because small things make people's lives brighter. You just shake somebody's hand. You just smile and write your name and people will talk about it for the rest of their lives.

— Will Smith —

I hope everybody could get rich and famous and will have everything they ever dreamed of, so they will know that it's not the answer.

Jim Carrey

